Lions Club To Sponsor Blood Donor Clinic

MORINVILLE—The Morinville Lions Club will sponsor a blood donor clinic on August 28, in Morinville.

To make this worthwhile cause a success, the help of each and everyone is needed. Nothing should be too important that it could not be set aside for the few minutes it takes to donate a pint of blood. Remember, the blood you give today could very well save the life tomorrow of someone near and dear to you and you and you.

A committee of Lions, headed by Mr. George Soetert, is looking after the details of the clinic.

Reunion Picnic Well Attended

CORONADO—The annual reunion picnic was held on Saturday July 26 with a good crowd in attendance considering the heavy rain in the morning.

Though it was cool and cloudy and for a while looked like rain would spoil the afternoon, everybody enjoyed themselves in the ball games and races, followed by supper with plenty of ice cream for all.

Several old timers were missing due to illness or away on holidays and some others had to work.

Busby News Briefs

The Sewing Circle will hold its next meeting at the home of Mrs. Edgar Mead.

Mrs. Sawyer and Mr. Drury have had Mr. Drury's three grandchildren holidaying with them.

Congratulations are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Mitchell on the birth of twin sons, Kenneth and Keith.

A welcome is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Alexander and their wee son, Murray, who have moved onto the Weideman farm.

Many visitors to the district were seen over the long week-end. Mr. and Mrs. Mills visited their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Mead. Horst Mirus, Jim Shupania, Harold Hoffman, and Herbert Huber all visited their respective homes.

Best wishes are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sowatsky new marriage took place at St. John's Lutheran Church, Edmonton, on August 1. Miss Jean Curie was a charming bride and Harold Hoffman acted as best man. A wedding dance was held in the Busby Hall and a large crowd of friends and former neighbors gathered and extended their best wishes.

Calgary Power Changes

It is announced by Calgary Power Ltd. that, owing to prolonged illness, Mr. H. B. Sherman has resigned as vice-president and general manager of that company. Mr. A. W. Howard, executive assistant for the past few years, has been appointed general manager effective July 15, 1952.

Every year seems to produce a large number of pretty young things.

PLANE CRASH KILLS TWO SOUTH OF MORINVILLE

MORINVILLE — The section of highway from here to Edmonton has been the scene of many fatal automobile crashes. On Sunday last two men lost their lives in a light plane crash at a point just three miles south of Morinville, close to the highway.

Arnold Grieder of Calgary, the pilot, and Dept. of Transport Inspector, A. J. Bob Moore of Edmonton were the victims.

The inspector was accompanying the pilot, a contestant in the Webster Trophy competitions, to judge his flying proficiency. The competitions are held annually to determine the best amateur pilot in Canada.

The plane, a two-seater Cornell owned by the Calgary Flying Club, crashed in a field four and a half miles south of Morinville, about 100 yards from Highway No. 2 shortly after 2 p.m.

An eyewitness said the plane dove straight down from about 1,000 feet, plunged into the ground and bounced about 25 feet before it stopped. There was no explosion or fire. The plane was demolished.

One of the occupants was found lying on a piece of wing and the other was still inside the wrecked fuselage.

Within minutes of the crash, about 100 cars had stopped along the highway near the field, and R.C.M.P. had difficulty keeping traffic clear. Department of Transport officials made a preliminary investigation of the crash but issued no report. The bodies were brought to Edmonton.

YOUNG PILOT WANTED TO SURPRISE FAMILY

The young pilot flew to Edmonton Saturday to take his test the following day but didn't give his family the reason for the flight. His 18-year-old brother, Herbert, told The Albertan Sunday night that the family believed he wanted to keep the test a secret so that in the event he won the trophy it would be a pleasant surprise for them all.

Saturday shortly after arriving in Edmonton, young Grieder telephoned his mother, Mrs. Walter Grieder, and told her he was safe and not to worry. That was the last word the family had from him. Sunday evening the R.C.M.P. informed them of the crash.

Fa. mhand Steals Car. Cash and Guns

BON ACCORD — John Milligan of Bon Accord considered himself a very lucky man to get a good farmhand to help with the forthcoming harvesting of a bumper crop. However, Lady Luck stayed with Mr. Milligan only one week.

Last Sunday, July 27, while the Milligan family was away from home for awhile, the hired man pulled out, taking with him a green Hudson car, two highly valued guns and a wallet containing a small sum of money.

As this news goes to press, no trace of the culprit or stolen goods has been found and R.C.M.P. are continuing the search.

Morinville District Man Describes Crash

MORINVILLE — Raymond Menier, farmer of the Morinville district, described the airplane crash, in which two men were killed, in the following words:

I was driving down the highway from my farm with my wife, and I could see this plane back over the field, just above some bushes.

I thought the plane was just circling around and that the pilot was practising.

All of a sudden, my wife said, "Look at that plane, it's awfully low!"

THERE WAS NO NOISE

I stopped the car, and then I realized the plane's motor must have conked out, because there was no noise from the engine.

Then the plane was coming straight for us. I thought it was going to hit us, but it swerved over, and made another circle.

Then it nosed straight down, and plowed into the ground. It made an awful noise and the earth just shook. The plane shot into bits when it crashed.

TRIED TO MISS CARS

But for the highway, I think the pilot would have brought it down all right. But he tried to miss some cars on the road, and then he came straight down.

I didn't wait to see how the pilot was. I drove to St. Albert to notify the R.C.M.P. and Air Force. Later, they told me both aboard were killed.

Calling All Golfers; Lions Club Wants You

The Morinville Lions Club is sending out a call for all barnyard golfers to be on deck at the annual Corn Roast and Picnic which will be held at Sandy Lake Beach on Sunday, August 24.

One of the main highlights of the Corn Roast is the annual horseshoe tournament, at which time the Lions Club of Morinville trophy will be defended by the present holder. This trophy is up for annual competition and the horseshoe tournament promises to be highly competitive this year.

Larry Paul Suffers Crushed Skull

NAMAO — Larry Paul, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Paul, was accidentally hurt when playing at the elevator with another boy. The hoist which the carpenter uses for lifting the lumber fell on his head and crushed in the top of his skull. The accident happened about 9 p.m. Sunday evening and he was rushed to hospital by ambulance, unconscious. He was conscious after his operation Monday morning and is recovering.

The building is well under construction.

EDITORIALS

Election Results

Last week's provincial election signified one important thing: that there is no general "turn-away" in any constituency from Social Credit policies. Albertans generally approve the export of natural gas, and condone the poor roads and poor telephone service prevalent in so many rural areas.

Farmers in Alberta apparently are satisfied to wait many long years yet before getting rural electrification. Opposition party suggestions that the government speed up rural electrification with interest-free loans were turned down by the farmers themselves in favor of the present slow system where a few farms get rural power when they pay large sums for installation.

It is now evident that the majority of land owners are satisfied to receive no share of the royalties from oil profits taken from their land. They do not want reduction in municipal taxes.

Well, the people have given their verdict—a whopping endorsement of the Social Credit party for another five years. With a larger majority in the legislature, there will be less opposition to analyze and criticize government legislation. This is unfortunate, because the British system of democratic government makes the "loyal opposition" a very important part of the machinery.

This also brings to Mr. Manning and his supporters the grave responsibility of acting always in the interests of the province, knowing that if he is wrong, there isn't a strong enough opposition to make any contrary views effective.

Spoiled Ballots

A by-product of the recent election was a fairly high percentage of spoiled ballots. Suggestions had been made to the Department of Economic Affairs to run a series of advertisements in the weekly papers to explain to newcomers and those unfamiliar with the "1, 2, 3" system just how their ballots should be marked.

If these "educational" advertisements had been run in the papers it is likely that a lot less ballots would have been marked with an "X", or disqualified in some other way.

First Canadian Wheat

In 1604 fifteen or twenty acres of wheat were planted along the St. Croix River, not far from where St. Stephen, N.B., now stands. This was possibly the first wheat sown in North America, but whether it was in Maine or New Brunswick is difficult to say.

This information was given in an article on early Canadian agriculture written by Arthur Kelsall, superintendent of the Dominion experimental station at Kentville, N.S., and carried in the latest issue of the Agricultural Institute Review.

In 1603 Sieur de Monts received a charter from King Henry IV of France, making him his lieutenant-general of Acadia, a territory which included the Maritime Provinces and part of the state of Maine. Accompanied by the noted explorer, Samuel de Champlain, he set sail the following spring to explore the region. In 1604 they planted wheat along the St. Croix River but did not remain at that location. The next year, however, Champlain returned and found that the grain had come up and had ripened well.

In 1605 a settlement was established where Annapolis Royal now stands. Vegetables were planted, but there is no record of grain being planted that year. In 1606, however, Champlain reported that the following crops were sown: wheat, barley, oats, rye, flax, hemp, peas, cabbages, and radishes.

The same year a water mill was constructed to grind grain. This was the first erected in North America and went into operation some 14 years before the Pilgrim Fathers landed at Plymouth Rock. Mr. Kelsall reports that although the mill is gone, the earthworks connected with it are plainly discernible.

How To Elect A President

By T. W. PUE

After waiting a month for the election system in B.C. to divulge the winners of their June vote out there, it behooves us only slightly to criticize the electoral college system of selecting a President in the United States. This, therefore, is not so much a critical treatise as an attempt to explain what happens in the birth travail of a newly elected government in the U.S.A.

A President is not elected by the people, directly, but by a group of "electors" who are elected for the sole purpose of electing the Chief Magistrate. In Canada, we elect a government and the elected representatives choose a leader who becomes Prime Minister. Therefore, we feel, our system gives more direct application of the people's choice as to who is to be our chief legislator.

In the States, there has been talk of abolishing the Electoral College now, for many years. That is, because the electors are, in theory, not bound to support any candidate.

The theory upon which the Electoral College was founded by the fathers of the country was that the electors would be better qualified men to select a President than the average citizen.

As the system has turned out, after a period of evolutionary change over the years, electors are generally expected to vote for the candidate who carries their home state. This means, in effect, that a candidate in one state, who receives ten votes more than his opponent, receives all that state's electoral votes. Under the two-party system, it is possible for one candidate to win several close elections in the key states, receiving all the electoral votes, while his opponent, representing the other major party, receives almost as many popular votes, but no electoral votes at all.

In recent years there have been many amendments proposed in Congress, which would abolish the Electoral College system and put the election of a President on a popular-vote basis. The latest proposal to accomplish this end was defeated in the House of Representatives, partially by the opposition of Republican leader Joe Martin and other leading Republicans in the House. Senator Robert Taft's opposition was also influential in the defeat of this proposed amendment. Some Republicans feared that such action would give the South a disproportionate voice in the election of Presidents, since the elections in Southern States are usually one-sided affairs. Thus, Southern States would probably continue to cast a very high percentage of their electoral votes for the Democratic candidate, while many States in other sections would practically split their electoral votes.

Opponents of this school of thought argue that this system would encourage all eligible voters in the South to come out to the polls, thereby insuring a split in the electoral vote of each state. Whatever the final outcome, every citizen should seriously weigh the arguments advanced by both sides of the Electoral College issue. The College is certainly a unique system of Presidential election and may have its advantages, as well as its disadvantages. The average citizen, it appears, will have to decide in the next few years whether the merits of the system outweigh the demerits.

Parachutes and Commercial

Air Travel

The old issue of parachutes or no parachutes on commercial air liners has been raised again as a result of a recent crash of a Pan-American plane in the jungles of Brazil. The cause of the crash is still undetermined.

One of the theories advanced, however, is that a fire developed in one engine and the pilot dived the great airliner in an effort to put out the blaze. He might have failed to extinguish the fire or he might have pulled off a wing in trying to pull out of the dive.

At any event, passengers on commercial airliners seldom are provided parachutes and in similar instances usually have no escape from a burning ship aloft. It seems that if only one passenger could be saved by the addition of parachutes, the move would be worthwhile.

Producers Gained With "Fortuitous Profits" By Barley Prices De-Control

(An Editorial in the Winnipeg Free Press, Monday, July 28th)

Last Wednesday in commenting on a letter from Hon. Stuart Garson, Federal Minister of Justice, dealing with the Nolan appeal to the Privy Council, references were made to fortuitous profits arising in 1947 from the decontrol of barley prices.

Mr. Garson stated that the policy of the Federal Government had been to prevent any individual or company from reaping fortuitous profits out of decontrol.

The Free Press commented on this statement as follows:

Much is said by Mr. Garson about "fortuitous" profits. This point has nothing to do with the merits of this question but is a political consideration advanced in justification of what the government did. Little need be said on this score. To begin with, the farmers who grew the barley did not stand to gain by what the government did. The government raised the price of barley 28½¢. It took this profit not from all barley owners in Canada, but only from a group who happened to be in the "designated" area, comprising, largely, the area from the Head of the Lakes to the Rockies. This policy against "fortuitous" profits was only partially applied in March, 1947. But note what followed. In October, 1947, while the 1945 National Emergency Powers Act was still in full vigor and the government was just as well armed to prevent "fortuitous" profits as in March of 1947, Mr. Garson writes, the Federal Government suddenly decontrolled the price of barley. The price soared from 93 cents to more than $1.30 cents. Huge "fortuitous" profits out of decontrol were made. There was a public outcry. To appease public opinion, the elevator companies, voluntarily paid to the farmers part of these "fortuitous" profits. In view of the record, Mr. Garson's references to "fortuitous" profits are subject to heavy discount.

Without Being Prompted So far as Mr. Garson's point is concerned, this comment is perfectly true. But with regard to the grain elevator companies it is not only open to misconception but, in one particular, requires correction. It should be made clear that the criticism here referred to was directed not at the elevator companies but at the Federal Government. The elevator companies were under no urge or compulsion to "buyback" the profits. They refunded these "fortuitous" profits voluntarily without being prompted to do so by the Federal Government or any one else.

What happened was this: On the evening of October 21, 1947, Hon. Douglas Abbott, then as now Federal Minister of Finance, announced that the price of barley had been decontrolled. The fixed price had been 93¢ per bushel. It would now be free to find its own level.

As stated by the Free Press last Wednesday there was a stir of protest. H. A. Hannan, president of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, issued a statement on October 22 declaring the government's action to be "a staggering blow to the farmers."

J. Parker of the Manitoba Post declared the decision to be "unfortunate." George W. Robertson of the Saskatchewan Pool attacked the policy in a radio broadcast, which is reported verbatim in the Western Producer of October 20. Warren Baldwin, the Ottawa correspondent of the Globe and Mail, reported to his newspaper on October 22 that "protests were flooding Ottawa."

A Public Outcry

This is what the Free Press meant when it said that the decontrol of barley on October 21, 1947, caused a public outcry.

The Winnipeg market opened on October 23. The price of barley rose on the market almost at once to $1.25 and $1.31 per bushel. Here was a "fortuitous" profit of from 36 to 38 cents per bushel on tens of millions of bushels of barley.

The Federal Government, quite correctly, Mr. Garson writes, "that it would not allow fortuitous profits to be made—did absolutely nothing." The grain elevator companies, including, of course, the three wheat pools, decided of their own free will, that they did not wish to retain such profits. So far as can be learned they voluntarily paid to the producers every cent of profit so realized.

The original comment of the Free Press was open to the construction that the elevator companies had turned back those fortuitous profits under suggestion of distress. This is not so. No demand of any kind was made on them. They refused to "buyback" these profits as a matter of principle.

LETTERS TO LOUISA

Dear Louisa,
 We have a son, who seems to have a turn for mechanics. He fixes everything that gets out of order in the house and we never have to take the car to a shop. But the problem is this. My husband is a doctor and has set his heart on our only son being one also and coming in with him when he gets his degree.

New. Sonny doesn't care for books, and failed in Latin when he was in High School. Don't you think it is foolish to try to make him take up a profession which he is not the least bit interested in?
E. C.

Answer:
 I certainly do think that it is very wrong to decide a child's life-work for him and disregard his own wishes in the matter.
 If his father insists on his studying to become a doctor, I doubt if he will be able to pass his work and, if he does, he will probably not be a success.
 If the boy is mechanically minded.

Combine Demonstration Field Day

The Alberta Barley Committee at a meeting held in Lacrosse on July 24, decided to do something towards reducing the heavy losses sustained by grain growers through faulty operation of combines and threshers. So long ago as the harvest season saw enormous losses in discharge and lowered grades of much of our prime wheat.
 However, it is on the matting, barley crop that growers take the worst beating annually in lost grades. Much injury in threshing loss of 100 to 500 per cent is not uncommon, depending on the spread between matting and feed pipes.

The Alberta Department of Agriculture, together with the Wholesale Implement Dealers' Association and the Barley Improvement Institute decided to hold three Field Days to demonstrate combine operation and adjustment. One meeting will be held in each of the High Prairie, Morinville and Elkville-Lacombe areas. The earliest suitable barley field in the district will be selected in order that farmers may be able to attend before the general harvest rush begins. All common makes of combines will be on display. Agricultural engineers and service personnel of the companies will be on hand to instruct on the proper adjustment and operation of particular combines.

The "how" and the "why" and the "when" of combining, learned on the tricky matting barley may be readily applied to harvesting other grains. Watch for announcements regarding place and date for each of the Combine Demonstration Field Days.

POOR FATHER
 The head of the house was reading a newspaper article very carefully. When he had come to the end he remarked to his wife: "Do you know, dear, I think there's something in what this article says—(and) the cleverness of the father often proves a stumbling-block to the son."
 His wife heaved a sigh of relief.
 "Well, thank goodness," she said, "our Bobby won't have anything to say to that."

ed and likes that kind of work, let him study something, with which he can use that talent.

Everyone has to live his own life and the boy who has to follow a profession which he doesn't like, because his father insists on it, will probably be most unhappy and make everyone else around him unhappy.

Louisa.

Dear Louisa,
 I have a neighbor who has a small house. His mother has been left penniless, and has nowhere to go. Her son says he has no room for her and it is up to the community to look after her.

I know that he doesn't have a great deal but there is room for her, if the rest of them would make sacrifices.

B. L.

Answer:
 I don't know what is wrong with some of this generation. When I was growing up, children did not question taking care of their parents if they became old and needy.

I do not suppose that they enjoyed it but they accepted it and expected to do what they could if such a situation arose. In fact, most of us would have been humiliated to ask someone else to take over our responsibilities if we could possibly manage to assume them ourselves.

All that I can say is that they are certainly setting a poor example for their own children to follow if they themselves ever need help.

Louisa.

$5 200 Estate Awits Alberta Resident

CHICAGO, Ill.—Gordon Hallidson, who would be 73 years old if still living, is being sought in Alberta, Canada, to claim a $5,200 estate left by long forgotten relative.

This became known here when Walter C. Cox, a chate genealogist, 208 South LaSalle Street, Chicago, who specializes in tracing missing relatives to settle estates, took over the search with only scant clues.

"The effort to find the woman is complicated," Mr. Cox said, "by the fact that she probably married twice, changing her name."

"In the event she is deceased, her children or grandchildren would succeed to the inheritance. "Miss Hallidson is known to have lived in Alberta many years ago and was still living there unmarried when last heard from by relatives in the States."

$1 for EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

The Editor will pay $1.00 for every item published on "The Most Embarrassing Moment of My Life." To qualify, items must be true, personal incidents. Address: "Embarrassing Moments", P.O. Box 1164, South Edmonton.

It happened in the Dirty Thirties. Our teen-ager church club was on a sleigh-ride. Not being able to afford a ski-suit, I was wearing a heavy skirt and, underneath, by my prudent mother's order, a pair of dark blue, fleeced-lined whitties. On the trip I felt something give way and, to my extrema horror, I realized it was the all-important waist elastic.

From then on, I sat in the hay, and no amount of teasing could get me to budge, either. Working frantically, if secretly, I tried to rid myself of those awful things clinging around my knees. When we got back to the school, I was still far from my goal. I got down in the hay and pretended to be hunting for a rubber. A lovely young Calahad gallantly offered to stay and help me. Horrified, I begged him to go with the other kids and enjoy himself. But he wouldn't and, meanwhile, the teamster was getting very impatient.

Finally, hiding myself of both my embarrassment and the fleeced-lined monster, I gaily announced I was ready to go on into the school. As we went up the steps, my valiant, with a surprised look on his innocent, dumb face, said, looking at my feet: "Gee, Kay, you had both your rubbers on all the time."

FARM UNIONS PRESENT BRIEF TO BOARD OF GRAIN COMMISSIONERS

By HENRY YOUNG, FUA President

WINNIPEG—On Monday, July 21, the Board of Grain Commissioners held their annual public hearing at Winnipeg. The purpose of this hearing was to give all firms or persons interested in the handling of the Western grain crop, a chance to make representations re storage, handling charges, or any matter pertaining to the movement of the crop. Various organizations such as the Line Elevators, the Wheat Pools and the UGG were represented there and presented briefs.

In their briefs, the Line Elevators asked for higher handling charges on grain, and the maintenance of the present storage rates. The Wheat Pools concurred in asking for the higher rates, but suggested a slight reduction in the rates on storage of grain. The United Grain Growers in their submission, expressed willingness to get along for another year on the same rates for handling grain but opposed any reduction in storage rates. All grain handling charges asked that the present rates for shrinkage allowance be retained, but the Co-ops were willing to have the extra shrinkage rate on damp grain abolished. All grain handling concerns stressed greatly higher operating costs and the fantastic cost of replacing elevators.

The Farmers' Unions of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, were represented at this hearing by their three presidents, Messrs. Shier, Phelps and Young. Several other members from Manitoba also attended including the vice president, Mr. Allison. Mr. J. L. Phelps, president of the Saskatchewan Farmers' Union, acted as spokesman and presented a brief on behalf of the Interprovincial Council of the three Unions. The Farm Union brief dealt with a number of matters of vital interest to Western farmers. These may be briefly listed as follows:

1. Shrinkage Allowance—On this the recommendation was made that it be reduced to the actual loss in handling and that no opportunity be given grain handlers to create overages out of shrinkage allowance.

2. Diversion Charges—Note: This is the charge which is allowed grain firms when grain they have in storage is diverted to a terminal other than their own. The Union brief contended that this should be abolished.

3. Inspection Fees—A strong protest was made against the special charge of $1.00 levied against every sample of grain sent in to the Grain Inspection Dept. for grade and dockage. This was a new charge last year.

4. Storage Charges—The Union brief asked for a review of these, with a view to some reduction. It was pointed out that one to congestion, all elevator companies are getting paid for maximum use of their storage.

5. Lake Shipping Rates—A protest was made against the recent increase in lake shipping rates and the suggestion that the Board attempt to bring about a reduction.

6. Grain Overages—A strong protest was made against the accumulation of overages by grain handling concerns, and the demand was voiced that the Board of Grain Commissioners take more effective measures to control this.

Elderly Alberta Couple Complete Air Trip To Old Country

COLINTON—Mr. and Mrs. David Hay, pioneer residents of the district, have recently returned from an extended trip by Trans-Canada Air Lines to Dunblaine and Edinburgh, Scotland. Specific reason for the trip was to visit Mrs. Hay's cousin, Miss Christina Sutherland, of Dunblaine, Scotland.

They left Canada May 20 via Goose Bay, Labrador, and landed in Prestwick, Scotland. On their return trip they stopped off in New York. They left LaGuardia Field on Tuesday morning, and their son, D. D. Hay, picked them up Tuesday evening at Edmonton Airport.

While in New York, Mr. and Mrs. Hay visited the latter's brother and sister. This was their first trip anywhere by air, but at the age of 80 years Mr. Hay is now a confirmed air traveller and both he and his wife say they enjoyed every minute of the trip.

DAT'S ME

Bald, comical Cleve Weed, who looks like his celebrated cartoons "the poor taxpayer," relates the story of the drunk who has a weakness for bringing people home with him.

Waking one foggy morning, he looks across the room, makes out the vague form of a woman and says hoarsely: "Are you the beautiful senorita I danced with last night?"

The beautiful senorita replies: "V-ah, boss dat's me."

ments to Board—A strong protest was made against Mr. Milner remaining as a member of the present Board and also being Transport Controller. It was suggested that he relinquish his place on the Board, and that a practical farmer be appointed to fill the vacancy.

Other points covered in the Farmers' Union brief were grain mixing, and the grave situation arising out of the congestion in country and terminal elevators. Our representations were, on the whole, well received except for the part relating to the dual position of Mr. Milner, which appears to be a touchy point.

Later in the day the Farm Union delegation interviewed the Canadian Wheat Board and discussed the quotas for the 1952 crop. It was suggested to the Board that quotas on the old crop be held open after August 1st so as to give an opportunity to those who have been unable to market their crop due to lack of space. The Board agreed to try and work this out. A request from the Saskatchewan Union for a flat quota based either upon the Province or on large zones was discussed at length, but the Board appeared doubtful as to its practicability.

These discussions are all interesting and helpful, and will doubtless lead to better understanding among all concerned.
